Unique packaging solutions that only Foamex can create

A natural talent:

- Engineered with renewable resources
- Lower density and lower weight
- Unique VPF<sup>SM</sup> “green” production technology

Foamex Natural Packaging Technology provides a unique blend of cushioning performance and environmentally-friendly engineering. Foamex provides material at a lower density, and therefore reduced weight in the final package, than conventional foams.

Manufactured using renewable, natural polyols, Foamex Natural performance packaging reduces our petrochemical dependency as well as our carbon footprint.

The technical story:

Density: 1.2pcf

IFD 25%: 65 lb-f

Tensile: 14.4 psi

Tear: 1.1 pli

Elongation: 60%

Your products already consume enough petroleum getting to market. You now have the option to ship them safely in environmentally friendly cushioning.

VPF.<sup>SM</sup> The patented technology behind our green manufacturing

Our ground-breaking, earth embracing, VPF technology is the foundation for many of our customer solutions. VPF stands for Variable Pressure Foaming. It is our patented, virtually zero-emission manufacturing process that completely eliminates CFCs and other blowing agents that can have a negative impact on the environment. VPF, combined with our use of "green" ingredients, firmly puts Foamex at the forefront of environmental stewardship. We deliver a portfolio of unique, more natural products that are consistently high in quality.

Consumers are more environmentally minded than ever before. You can deliver a better performing package, potentially cut costs, and lay the groundwork for a corporate agenda that meets public demand.
